The Governor's Race

Next Tuesday Kentucky voters will go to the polls to select a Democratic and a Republican nominee for governor of the Commonwealth.

There is really no contest in the Republican campaign. Tom Emberton for governor and James Host for lieutenant-governor have only token opposition and will certainly be their party's candidates in the November election.

But the campaign to select the Democratic nominee is something else, with ex-Judge Bert T. Combs and Lt.-Gov. Wendell Ford participating in a strenuous campaign that will be decided next Tuesday when the ballots are counted in Kentucky's 120 counties.

For more reasons than we can delineate in this issue, I am supporting Lt.-Gov. Ford. I support him because he is a good and decent man. He is a good Christian, a devoted husband and a kind and understanding father to his two children, a daughter Shirley 21, and a son Steve, a high school junior.

He identifies with youth because he is a young man. He is a born leader, so don't be misled by what his opponent is saying about him. No young fellow could have become state president, then national president, then international vice-president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce if he didn't inspire thousands of young men who believed in him and what he stood for.

As a matter of fact, I learned about Wendell Ford and his integrity from Bert Combs, the man who chose Ford for his chief assistant, when Combs became governor. Surely the ex-judge knew then, as he surely knows now, that Wendell Ford is able, and honest, and a man of his word.

Bert Combs wanted Wendell Ford to be governor. He knew Ford could be a good governor, for if this were not so, why did Mr. Combs throw his full support and influence to Mr. Ford when the latter made his successful race for lieutenant-governor? Certainly it was Mr. Combs' hope that he would some day see Wendell Ford governor of Kentucky.

Strange Events

But the political process is a strange and precarious business, isn't it?

You know the turn of events as well as I do. Bert Combs hand-picked his successor (Ned Breathitt) as governor; he accepted the high honor as Federal judge at a life-time salary of $42,500.00 a year. Apparently he became bored with Kentucky politics and the deplorable conditions of the Democratic party which was heavily in debt; had lost three senatorial races; had lost the Jefferson County administration; had lost the Fayette County administration and a Congressional seat.

Meanwhile Wendell Ford, as lieutenant-governor was head of the party in its darkest hour. He did not consider it a chore, but a challenge. Today Fayette County and Jefferson County are back in the Democratic fold; we have gained a Congressional seat; the young people found a leader; the party has money in the bank. In addition the Democrats, under Ford's leadership removed the tax on farm machinery and on prescription drugs, at a time when most states were increasing taxes. With Ford's support the Democrats gained the State Auditor's office while the Republicans put up their finest candidate to defeat her.

The list goes on and on and on.

The Answer Is Simple

Some people seem shocked that, having been Bert Combs' state campaign chairwoman in 1959, I am now supporting his opponent, Wendell Ford.

To me the answer is simple. I, with countless thousands of Kentuckians felt that former Governor and ex-Judge Combs had been given a high honor by being appointed to the Federal bench. Certainly Mr. Combs realized that this was a life-time post, at a handsome salary, free of the intrigue of politics, and a distinction that few men achieve in a life-time.

So, the real Democrats of Kentucky rallied behind the leadership of Wendell Ford, which he gave, with energy, with dedication and with hard work. I am one of that large number and I am proud that I am.

THE COMMONS; a new concept in school building construction, will incorporate the features of a student "lounge" in the center of the classroom area at the new Fulton High School. This is the way it looked this week as News photographer stood facing it from the entrance to the gym, which will be adjacent.

Twin Cities Construction Work At All-Time $4 Million Record

Things are "booming" around the Twin Cities this summer, a News survey of construction projects reveals this week. Five major projects surveyed, representing a total construction cost of approximately four million dollars are currently underway, and there is more to come.

The projects are employing a capacity number of workmen.

One observer, surveying the current construction programs, calls them the "greatest face-lifting the twin cities have ever witnessed."

Consider these five, on which this week's survey was made:

—Construction of 37 separate buildings, containing a total of 80 units, in the current housing program. This construction is in a "U" shape around Hillview Hospital, at an estimated cost of $1,543,000;

—Earth-moving and bridge-building on the new US-45E bypass over the IC railroad and around South Fulton, at an estimated cost of $1,200,000;

—Construction of the new Fulton High School in Highlands, at an estimated cost of $1,000,000;

—Earth moving and building construction on the new Hadley Adhesive site and building north of the ice plant in West Fulton, at an estimated cost of over $500,000;

—Enlarging the Fulton A&P store approximately one-third in size, at a cost of approximately $50,000.

Not included, of course, is the new Urban Renewal program in Fulton, which will involve over $2 million in funds and is expected to begin in the near future.

HOUSING PROGRAM: Eighty new housing units are being incorporated in 37 buildings being constructed adjacent to the Hillview Hospital. Well underway, the units are scheduled for completion and occupancy hopefully in January 1972. McAdoo Contractors, Union City, are prime contractors for this project, which will cost approximately $1,453,000.

HIGHWAY 45-E BYPASS: This 2-lane roadway will connect US 51 with US 45-E around South Fulton. The road, approximately 1.82 miles long, will feature a gigantic 3-span bridge high over the Illinois Central tracks and Harris Fork Creek in South Fulton, currently being built by the firm of Boyer, Johnson and Kines, bridge-builders of Jackson, Tenn. The 4-lane bridge will be 43 feet high on the western side of the tracks, and 50 feet high over the land on the eastern side of the tracks, and the creek.

The longest span, that which crosses the railroad tracks, will be approximately 100 feet in length, with two 60-foot spans on either side. An enormous amount of earth fill is being required for this area, and completion of bridges and roadway is not expected before July, 1972. McDade Construction Company of Fulton are prime contractors for the job, which will cost an estimated $1,200,000.

FULTON HIGH SCHOOL: Work on the new $1,000,000 Fulton High School, located across Stephen Beale Drive from the Ferry-Morse Seed Company in Highlands, is progressing "pretty well on schedule." The News was told this week, Construction of the gym, the Commons and the classrooms are all in the wall stage, with roof decking completed on part of the giant building. Com-

Judge Declares Mistrial As Morrow Jury Is Deadlocked

The trial of Clyde Morrow, accused of the murder last August 14 of his neighbor, Doyle George, ended Friday, May 14, in a hung jury. Fulton Circuit Judge Wood C. Tipton declared a mistrial, dismissed the jury and tentatively set a new trial for the September term of court.

The case went to the jury at 1 p. m. Friday, after a day and a half of testimony. At 4 p. m. the jury reported that it was deadlocked at 7-5, and that the members of the jury felt that they would not agree on the verdict.

ing of George was the result of a land dispute between George and Morrow.

Joe Grace of Paducah, the defense attorney, attempted to prove that Morrow had acted in self-defense. In his testimony, Morrow admitted shooting George, but said that he was in fear of his life after George attempted to beat him with a chain.

The chain, about 18 inches long, was admitted as evidence, along with several other items found in George's car by authorities.

According to Morrow, George visited him on August 11, three days before the shooting, and

Grand Jury Adicts Thirteen, Recommends Jail Improvements

Thirteen persons were indicted last week by the Fulton County grand jury, meeting in the Circuit Court room in Hickman Monday, May 10 and in Fulton Tuesday.

Following the reading of indictments Tuesday afternoon, the grand jury read a report recommending that the Fulton County Fiscal Court apply for state or federal funds, or both, to be used for improvements to the county jail.

Carl Stanley Williams of Hickman was indicted for the murder of his brother-in-law, Galen Eugene "Pete" Andrews, Jr. Andrews died of a gunshot wound in the abdomen March 6, and Williams turned himself into city police shortly after the shooting.

Other indictments were: Carl Lee Gilbert, malicious shooting; Harry McKinney, Jr., and Gary Fozzard, housebreak-

Governor's Race Holds Key Interest In May 25 Election

Fulton Countians will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect Democratic and Republican nominees for state office, and in addition, to elect a state senator and a state representative.

In Fulton County the race is being livened up a bit by a race for jailer to fill the unexpired term of the late Baker Minton. In addition, a race for magistrate in District Four will bring out a large number of voters in that area.

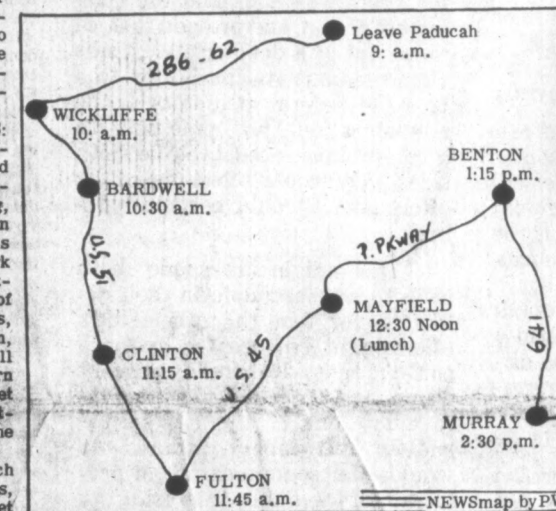

The heaviest concentration of campaigning is being done in the race for the democratic nomination for governor which pits former governor and ex-Federal judge Bert T. Combs against his former long-time friend and chief assistant Wendell Ford, now serving as lieutenant-governor.

The year-long governor's race is coming to a climax in typical Democratic fashion with charges and counter-charges being hurled to the amusement, consternation and confusion of voters.

Both Combs and Ford have endorsed a large array of progressive programs for Kentucky, if they are elected.

Long-time political observers have labeled the governor's race a "toss-up"; The News is of the same opinion.

A complete list of candidates is published in the Sample Ballot in this issue.

Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford's "victory" motorcade, on Saturday, May 22 will leave Paducah at 9 a. m. The motorcade is scheduled to stop in Wickliffe at 10:00, Bardwell at 10:30, Clinton at 11:15, and Fulton at 11:45. Additional stops are planned for Mayfield, Benton, Murray, Cadiz, Hopkinsville, Elkton, and Russellville.

FHS Coaches Shanks, Mason, Bushart Submit Resignations

Fulton High School's entire coaching staff will leave the school after this year, Charles Thomas, superintendent of Fulton City Schools, announced Thursday, May 13.

Band Director Also Leaving

In addition, John M. (Jack) Sublette, the school's band director, has also submitted his resignation. He plans to further his education in the field of secondary instrumental music.

Sublette, a native of Jackson, came to Fulton two years ago after graduating from UTM. He and his wife, Martha, and their daughter, Jennifer, live on Court Drive.

Larry Shanks, head football coach, will join his family's dairy business in McEwen, Tennessee. Basketball coach David Mason will attend the University of Louisville College of Law this fall, and Ward Bushart, assistant to Shanks and Mason, plans to enter graduate school. Shanks came to FHS from the University of Tennessee at Martin, where he played on the Vols' Tangerine Bowl championship team. In his three years as coach, the Bulldogs won 21 games and lost ten. In his first year, the team went undefeated in regular season and advanced to the state semifinals. Shanks also coached basketball for one year and that team went to the regional tournament.

"It's a great loss," Thomas stated concerning Shanks' resignation. "We have thoroughly enjoyed his three years here. He has meant so much to the school, young people, and the community, and we wish for him the best in the future."

Shanks' letter of resignation follows:

Dear Sirs:

On this twelfth day of May 1971, I, Larry Shanks, submit my resignation to the Fulton City Board of Education.

It has been a real pleasure working with the faculty and the administration. Their cooperation has made my job much easier. I would like to thank the parents and the community for their help and

Three Sustain Minor Injuries In Car Crash

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward Johnson and Walter Damons received minor injuries Saturday afternoon, May 15 in a two-car accident near Eddyville.

The driver of the other car, Irvin A. Gilson III, 17, of Eddyville is listed in satisfactory condition at Western Baptist Hospital in Paducah. He suffered a spinal injury, causing partial paralysis, in the accident.

According to the state trooper who investigated the accident, Gilson apparently lost control of his car while trying to pass another one, and skidded sideways into the car driven by Johnson.

Diplomas Awarded To 71 South Fulton Graduates

Graduation exercises were held Thursday, May 13 for the 71 members of South Fulton High School's Class of 1971. Ceremonies were held in the school, young people, and the First United Methodist Church of Fulton, which was filled to capacity with parents, friends and relatives of the graduates. Congressman Ed Jones, the featured speaker, challenged the graduates to meet the demands of a changing world. He told them that maintaining peace

Fulton Visit Set By Ford Motorcade

A mammoth "victory" motorcade winding through far West Kentucky will climax Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford's First Congressional District campaign Saturday, May 22. The motorcade, with Ford supporters from all counties in the District joining along the way, will begin in Paducah at 9 a. m. (CDT) and conclude nearly 10 hours later at Russellville. The motorcade is expected to stop in Fulton about 11:45 a. m.

Along the way, the Lieutenant Governor, Democratic candidate for governor, will make brief speeches at each stop. A concluding address will be delivered in Russellville.

Local and state police officials will assist in handling the motorcade so that normal traffic flow will be maintained.

A similar motorcade for the Second District is planned for Monday, May 24, the day prior to primary election day.

Electric Bills Will Be Cut After July 1

The Fulton Electric Plan board, meeting Tuesday night, voted to remove the amortization and surcharge from all electric bills after July 1, 1971.

This means that commercial and residential customers of the Fulton Electric System will receive an average savings of 8.4 percent after that date.

During the past two months, TVA officials have been making a survey of the local system and a TVA representative recommended to the plant board that the charges be removed.

The removal will become effective on all meters read after July 1, and customers will not see the difference in their electric bills until August bills are mailed.

On earth is one of their biggest goals. With honor, integrity, willingness to work, and respect for others, Rep. Jones said, the graduates will be well prepared to meet the challenges ahead.

The procession into the sanctuary was led by principal Virgil Yates. Oblion County School Superintendent George Blakemore, South Fulton Board Chairman Harold Henderson,

There Must Be A Better Way To Settle Rail Disputes

IT TOOK JUST two days of the railroad strike to show to what extent this country still depends on rail transportation. Mail didn't arrive, factories began layoffs, commuters struggled through traffic jams to get to work in the cities and utilities began looking worriedly at their coal stocks. And it took just those two days to illustrate our continuing national lack of a workable plan to settle recurring rail labor disputes without strikes and service interruptions.

The strike was the result of demands by the 13,000-member Signalmen's Union for pay increases of 51.8 per cent over 42 months. The railroads offered 36 per cent for the same period and a presidential emergency board recommended 42 per cent over 42 months. The signalmen refused to accept it, went on strike, and the other rail unions honored their picket lines, paralyzing the rail system.

Congress, as usual, straddled the issue, directing 13.5 per cent raises retroactive to January 1, 1970, and ordering the signalmen back to work until October 1, pending further negotiations between the union and the railroads.

But on the basis of past performance there is little reason to hope that negotiations alone will produce the three-year agreement the government wants. And if the rail-union talks reach their customary impasse, we'll be off again on the familiar merry-go-around: stalemate, strike, a presidentially directed effort to compromise differences, and finally a congressional order to go back to work and resume talks.

Both the Railway Labor Act of 1926 and the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947 provided for "cooling-off" periods, and intervention by federal mediators who would try to reconcile differences. As a parade of strikes shows, it hasn't worked very well. Four times during the past eight years Congress has had to legislate rail-labor settlements. Obviously, something new must be added to prevent interruptions of service in this essential industry.

'Final selector offer'

One trouble is that both rail labor and management know that theirs is an essential industry, and that eventually Congress will have to step in to arbitrate any potentially critical strike. And both, apparently, would rather accept terms laid down by Congress than by the other side. As a result, negotiations become more a matter of endurance than of genuine search for agreement.

Despite the essential nature of the railroads, and the increasing role of government in their operation, Congress is rightly reluctant to consider either of the two steps that would end the strike nuisance — nationalization of the railroads or compulsory arbitration of rail-labor disputes. But last year Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery began pushing publicly for an approach that could offer a middle way. His "final selector offer" plan would extend the cooling-off period, and provide that, in the event of a deadlock, each side would submit its final offer to a board of federal mediators. If the mediators could not come up with a compromise acceptable to both sides, they would select one of the offers and it would become binding.

This might persuade both sides to be reasonable in their demands, for fear the other side's offer might be accepted as more constructive. It would prevent Congress from having to jump in to every one of the apparently endless rail labor disputes. It would offer some measure of protection of the public interest.

And while it might prove to be less than perfect as a fair way to resolve rail disputes, it could hardly be less effective than the procedures we have now.

Harvest Of Creativity At Murray State U.

Murray State University is about to conduct "Third Summer," its third annual creative writing workshop conducted by the noted Kentucky author and poet, Jesse Stuart.

Murray has just published "2nd Summer," a 236-page book which contains representative selections of the work performed by last year's workshop participants, in the four categories of short stories, poetry, general articles, and selections from novels. According to Mr. Stuart, "this book contains less than 20 per cent of the publishable material we received."

A strong bond of mutual affection and respect has existed between Jesse Stuart and Murray University since he suffered a severe illness while on a speaking engagement there some years ago. Murray took Stuart to his heart, and he has designated the institution as collector and preserver of his manuscripts and other creative work.

POET'S CORNER

LET'S BE FRIENDS

If nobody smiled and nobody cheered
And nobody helped us along.
If every man looked after himself
And good things went to the strong.
If nobody cared just a little for you,
If nobody thought about me,
And we all stood alone in the battle of life,
What a dreary old world this would be.

Life is sweet because of the friends we've made
And for the things in common we share
We want to live on, not because of ourselves,
But because of the people who care.
It's living and doing for somebody else
On THAT life's splendor depends,
And the joys of living when you've summed them all up
Is found in the making of friends.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

Several new books have been received from the Department of Libraries in Frankfort. These books range from fiction to the broadest ranges of the non-fiction areas. Let's take a look at a few of the new ones.

PENHALLOW by George Heyer. In his Cornish manor house, Adam Penhallow, though confined to a sickbed, rules his wife, his sister, four sons, a daughter-in-law, and numerous servants with quixotic cruelty. He seems to enjoy nothing so much as making others miserable. When he forces his youngest son to return from Cambridge, and summons a daughter and another son from London, the whole clan is made vividly aware that he will never relinquish his power over their lives. With steadily building suspense, the question becomes not whether Adam Penhallow will be murdered but by whom and when.

WOLF HUNT by Walter Edmonds. This is a story of two hunters, and a great wolf that was both their prey and their ideal. Danny Gallagher starts to hunt the wolf in the hope that he can leave his boyhood behind. Hotly, Danny's uncle, sets out after the marauder in order to prove that he is a special kind of man. After days of stalking the wolf, Danny and his uncle finally confront their prey. The results of this confrontation give both their lives a new depth and direction.

DRUGS AND YOUTH by Joseph Brenner and others. This is a remarkable book. A reasoned, concise, and up-to-date appraisal of a subject which usually makes temper flare and nerves fray. The authors manage to avoid either moralizing or melodrama. They give small comfort to those who blame all the evils of society on the use of drugs. Nor do they join forces with those who propagandize for drugs as the ultimate experience or the way to personal salvation. The road they have chosen is more difficult and far more useful. They present the facts—medical, psychiatric, and legal—as they have come to know them through years of research and professional practice.

Two titles that will be of interest are JUMBO JETS by Lou Jacobs and INTRODUCTION TO GOVERNMENT by Robert Rlenow. Both titles are very complete on the subject revealed by the title.

SUNDAY EVENING by Margaret Lynn. Tracy didn't think she had any enemies. But nothing was really very clear, and she couldn't be sure. And everything was so strange. She knew she had experienced a nervous breakdown, and she remembered being admitted to a small hospital—and then she was transferred—she thought. Now she was convalescing in an isolated cottage in the Cornish countryside. But why did her nurse drive away and leave her completely alone? The chilling tale of a young woman's desperate attempt to retain her sanity in a world that seems determined to kill her.

VD: FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW by Andre Blanzaco. (for grades 6 and up) In a simple, direct way VD: FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW presents the young person with information he should have about venereal disease. No reader can get far into this book without becoming actively involved. On almost every page is a question box, with the answer below it. A reader can quickly learn all he needs to know about venereal disease—how it affects the body, how it is caused, cured, and prevented. At the end are a brief history of VD, and steps to be taken by a young person who contracts a venereal disease. This book is written for the young reader, but is a book that adults will find most informative if they are interested in finding out the facts about VD.

A GUEST OF HONOR by Nadine Gordimer. The title figure of this towering novel is James Bray, an Englishman who returns to the Central African country where he once served as a colonial administrator. He is coming back for the independence celebrations, ten years after his expulsion by Her Majesty's government for siding with the local nationalist leaders in their campaign for freedom. His African hosts, who wish to thank him for his role as one of the country's liberators, soon press him to stay. After accepting a post in education-planning, Bray heads north to the Gala District he knows so well. There and back in the capital, in the bush, surveying, appalling needs, on the shores of the Great Lake, through Party Congress and clandestine meetings, and ultimately in fire and blood, Bray measures the young country's progress against the split between the growing expedience and greed of some leaders, and the passionate determination of others to put into practice the ideals of the independence struggle. The choice of loyalties he must inevitably make is his triumph and undoing, and even the golden-eyed woman he has grown to love cannot help.

I AM THIRD by Gale Sayers. (This book will be the rage with all of our pro-football fans.) Gale Sayers is a man who strives toward and reaches the number-one spot in everything he tries, yet has the humility to wear around his neck a medallion which reads, "I am third." It seems an unlikely way for Sayers to describe himself, but in this impressively candid and lively autobiography, the twenty-seven-year-old star makes clear its validity, and his own truth as a man. In recounting the triumphs and disappointments of his ongoing brilliant career, he gives his ideas on the game of football.

Turning Back The Clock

TWENTY YEARS AGO
MAY 18, 1951

Monday the Fire Department was called out to the home of Hubert Bennett at 409 Fourth Street to put out a coal house which was on fire. The fire caught in a most unusual way, according to Fire Chief W. T. Dawson. The City Garage truck had picked up some hot cinders, then they picked up some dry brush. The brush caught fire while the truck was in the alley and a spark flew from the truck and landed on the coal house.

Five local Illinois Central employees were promoted to engineer recently. They are Joe Horner, Joe Fly, Stanley Parham, J. P. Hyland, and Don Braswell.

On Wednesday of this week, May 16, Mrs. Violet Johnson on her 65th birthday retired as bookkeeper of the OK Laundry, after 25 years of service with that company.

John Garrett, chief engineer of radio station WFUL, said that the work on the outside of the building has been completed and work on the inside was started this week. A test broadcast will be run the first of June and they are planning to begin broadcasting within two months.

A distinguished service scroll in recognition of the outstanding service rendered by the local postoffice department will be presented to Jack Carter, local postmaster Sunday night at the Fulton Theatre.

Manager Dan Tappan said that the scroll

Parents . . . . Know the Drug Threat

Today's Subject: More Mind-Affecting Drugs Now in Use

To classify any one group of drugs as "mind-affecting" would be a truth, but only half true, because this would lead one to believe that some drugs in use do NOT affect the mind. The hallucinogenics, (those which cause "trips" of the mind), are generally referred to as mind-affecting, but in reality all drugs have their effect on the mind whether direct or indirectly.

Some of the other drugs we have not mentioned thus far are Mescaline, Peyote, Psilocybin, DMT, STP and Morning Glory Seeds.

Mescaline is hallucinogenic in nature, a chemical found in the buttons of certain small cactus plants — peyote or mescal — and these are also available illegally in powder and liquid form. The effects, for the most part milder than LSD, often last 10 to 12 hours. Being bitter to the taste it is often mixed with a drink to make it go down easier. American Indians have used this drug in religious rituals for hundreds of years, so its use is not what could be termed new.

Peyote itself, coming from cactus, is a milder form of Mescaline. Sometimes it is referred to as "the button", "cactus", or just the letter "P". To this day it is still used in sacramental rites by the Native American Indian Church.

Psilocybin is from the Mexican mushroom and usually comes in crystal, powder or liquid form. Influence of the mind lasts from 2 to 6 hours generally and effects are similar to those of Mescaline.

DMT, (dimethyltryptamine), causes effects similar to LSD, when taken in large doses. Reaction comes quickly and the effects last an hour or two. It is made synthetically, and is a natural component of seeds from plants growing in the West Indies and South America. For hundreds of years natives have used this drug by sniffing a powder from the seeds.

STP, (also known as DOM), is relatively new on the drug scene. It is a synthetic chemical related to Mescaline and the Amphetamines. Reportedly it is very mind-distorting, but not nearly so powerful as LSD.

Morning Glory Seeds of some varieties have an active principle closely related to LSD, but much less potent. The seeds are most usually chewed or made into a tea.

Then there is the "thing" called "68"; like banana peel, "68" or, as it is sometimes called "sex juice", may be a hoax so say the specialists of the American Pharmaceutical Association. Users have reported that it produces wild, short trips as compared to LSD or STP. There are conflicting reports on the chemical make-up and over all effects. Our Food and Drug Administration says that "68" is simply oil of peppermint.

So, in summary today, you may ask yourself why it is important to know all of these minute details about all of the drugs we have discussed. Much of the information you may never have an occasion to use — BUT, if you do have occasion it is much better to know facts than fiction, hearsay and the like.

The major point of this entire series is to better understand the drug misuse problem and to do this we must know basic knowledge and basic facts. Only through truth about the drug problem can we hope to combat it. Only through open-mindedness can we save our children from the horrors of drug misuse. WE are the adults — the solution to the problem is up to US — this is OUR responsibility!

A prime attraction for any visitor is a drive to Golden and then up Lookout Mountain, which will include a visit to the grave of Buffalo Bill and to the Mother Cabrini Shrine. Views from Lookout Mountain are many and spectacular, the air is fresh and clear. Three hours will take you up and back.

Denver's fine zoo and Museum of National History and the Denver Mint will please both adults and children, while its Larimer Square provides an interesting locale for lunch or dinner, and for shopping in an area reminding one of Chicago's Wells Street of five years ago, when it was fresher and more wholesome in appearance.

Denver hotels can be very busy during the peak convention and vacation periods, so follow the advice of the Frontier Airlines experts and make your reservations well in advance.

Is it possible she is unaware of these unsightly growths? Would it be terribly rude of me to suggest that she have them removed? I'd like to hear your opinion on this.---Cape Cod

Dear Cod: Keep quiet. The woman knows the moles are there. If she wanted to do something about them she would. Apparently they do not bother her. And, frankly, they should not bother YOU that much. I

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me why a well-educated, well-traveled, socially prominent, affluent, middle-aged woman who spends a fortune on clothes and a mint of money in the beauty shop is content to go through life with two ugly hair-sprouting moles on her face? One is about the size of a large pea. The other is nearly as big as a dime.

Dear Ann Landers: Who do you think you are that you can call a person insensitive, inconsiderate and sadist just because she telephones a friend in the middle of the night to tell her a mutual acquaintance has died? More often than not the person who makes such a call hates to be the one who breaks the bad news, but someone has to do it.

What about nurses, doctors, police officers? Are THESE people sadists also? I hope you do better on your next answer. This one was lousy.---Green Bay Reader

Dear Green: Nurses, doctors and police officers must notify the next of kin because it is their professional responsibility to do so. Instructions must be given and decisions must be made. It is up to the family to issue orders.

Please tell me what purpose is served by waking up a person in the middle of the night to inform him that a mutual acquaintance has died? The person who gets the call can do nothing but lose a night's sleep.

As I said in my first response, anyone who feels that he cannot wait until morning to pass the bad news has a streak of sadism.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter has always been precocious. Beverly could read before she started school and her memory was extraordinary at a very early age. She skipped the first grade and went directly into the second. That was three years ago. Now the teacher wants Bev to skip the sixth grade and go from the fifth to the seventh. I am against it. The girl would find herself in high school with students who are 2-1/2 and 3 years older than she. (I forgot to mention that Bev was permitted to start school at age 4-1/2.)

My husband says I am depriving her of an opportunity-- that she will be bored if she isn't challenged to learn. He also insists it would be an honor to graduate from high school at 14-1/2. What is your opinion?--Super Smart Can Be Trouble

Dear Su: This is an honor your daughter can live without. The social pressures on a girl who is three years younger than her classmates can produce serious problems.

Brilliance can be a curse. If it is not properly channeled. Go to school and talk with the principal. Ask if he can suggest ways to keep the girl intellectually stimulated without advancing her another grade.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage--What To Expect." Sent your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Jack Speight, president of the Fulton-South Fulton Business and Professional Women's Club, greeted Gov. Louie B. Nunn, banquet speaker at the state BPW convention, May 14 - 16 at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington. Miss Anna Lou Caldwell of Fulton, First District BPW assistant director, is in lower right corner. Mrs. Bertie Pigue also attended as a delegate from Fulton. The convention marked the BPW's 50th anniversary in Kentucky.

NOTEBOOK—

But alas, the story does not have a happy ending. Today the Democratic party is again being torn to shambles.

The big-monied politicians are pouring thousands upon thousands of dollars into the Combs gubernatorial campaign.

Even the most casual voter is noticing the fantastic money being spent on Combs for radio, television, newspaper, billboard and hand-bill advertisements. We've hardly seen anything like it in many, many a day. There must be a reason.

Mr. Combs has the endorsement of the National Education Association and the Kentucky Association, groups that seek approximately $392,000,000.00 in new tax revenue.

The money has to come from somewhere, in spite of Mr. Combs' vehement protestations that he will not levy any new taxes.

The decision that voters must make next Tuesday is not whether Mr. Combs has a better military record, or a better public record, or more experience, than does Wendell Ford. All of which he does NOT have.

The decision we must make is whether Mr. Combs can FULFILL his campaign promises without raising taxes.

And then we must ask ourselves, why would a man give up the security of a high-paying Federal post for life, to risk the hazards of a bitter campaign to seek a job that pays only $30,000.00 for just four years?

When Mr. Combs leaves office, if he is elected, he will be nearly 64 years old. His political potential will have ended.

And so would his potential for starting over in the practice of law.

That is, if there were any necessity for him to practice law, after he leaves office, if he is elected.

FHS COACHES—

co-operation during the time I have been with the Fulton City School system. Lots and I have made many close friends here and have felt at home at Fulton since the very beginning.

I have enjoyed working with the student body of Fulton. They are truly a great bunch of kids and the dedication which they presented to me has made my decision even harder.

The boys with whom I have worked have been extra special to me. My coaching career at Fulton has been a great experience as a result of the hard work and good participation of these boys. However, due to my parents' health, I feel that they need more help in their dairy business. Since good help is hard to obtain on a dairy farm, I feel that I have greater obligations there. Therefore, these obligations have lead me to submit this resignation.

Respectfully yours,
Larry Shanks

Let's Re-Elect State Senator CARROLL HUBBARD

To the Citizens of Fulton County:

I would like to thank you for the courtesies and consideration shown by you to me during the present campaign.

A big "thank you" from me to the many of you who have been working diligently in my behalf.

I believe you realize that I have run my campaign on my record, accomplishments and efforts as your State Senator during the past three and one-half years.

The old style of politics — incorrect accusations begging a reply, innuendoes, running down your opponent, mudslinging, etc. — has no appeal to most voters nowadays. I am confident you will prove this to be true in Fulton County on next Tuesday.

If re-elected next Tuesday, I pledge to you my continued efforts for more progress in our area of West Kentucky and will continue my devotion to the task of vigorously representing this First Senatorial District in efforts to make state government in Kentucky more responsive to the needs of each of you.

I sincerely ask you for your vote of confidence next Tuesday, May-25.

Respectfully,

CARROLL HUBBARD, JR.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

CHRISTIAN CHURCH, HICKMAN, KENTUCKY

REV. JIM WALIZER
Pastor

According to a Kentucky History published in 1885, in the records of Fulton County, the following excerpt, "The first church edifice was erected about 1840, a frame building 20 x 40, used for school purposes also." It stood on the ground owned by C. L. Randle (now the property of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Vorhees). The present site of the Christian Church was bought in an exchange of property. The site of the present Hickman or Fulton County Elementary School was owned by the trustees of the Christian Church, and the present location of the Christian Church was owned by the Lutherans, who also used the building as a school.

Records of the Fulton County Court Clerk's office show: Exchange of property, DB-15, pages 194-195, July 7, 1888, James H. Saunders, Elder, S. W. Lauderdale, Deacon, S. W. Powell, Deacon, Trustees, Christian Church.

"For years the Christian Church existed, but the property became involved in debt during the Civil War and for a time was suspended or inactive, meeting only on the first day of the week" — excerpt from history.

The old church burned in 1914 and meetings on the first day of the week were held in the court room of the court house. All records of births, deaths and the histories were destroyed in the fire.

In 1918 the present church building was erected, and dedicated on July 8, 1918. The minister is Rev. J. W. Walizer.

began arguing with him about some 60 acres of land which Morrow had under cultivation. Earlier in the trial, George's son, Doyle Wayne George, said that his father had rented the land for 21 years, but that Morrow had recently rented the land from the out-of-state owner.

The son said that there was ill feeling between the two men as a result of Morrow's securing the right to farm the land. Called by Reed as a witness, Mrs. Doyle George said that she knew there was ill feeling between the two men as the result of a land dispute.

Morrow said that when George visited him August 11, George said that Morrow would never work the land. Morrow said that he saw the outline of a pistol in George's trousers pocket and that he was afraid "that he might try to do something to me."

On the day of the shooting, Morrow said, he went to Tip-onville to exchange a .25 pistol for a .22 revolver, which he said he used to kill George. Shortly before the shooting, Morrow said, he was driving his truck and was waved to a stop by George, who was coming toward him in a car. Morrow said George got out of his

Voice Recital Presented By Barry Adams

Barry T. Adams, director of music at the First United Methodist Church, presented a voice recital in the church Sunday afternoon, May 16. He was accompanied by his wife, Norma, the church organist.

The recital is a requirement for Adams' degree of Bachelor of Music Education from Murray State University, where Mrs. Adams is a graduate musician.

The music included works both sacred and secular works by classical composers Handel and Schubert, and modern composers Vaughan Williams and Amy Woodforde-Finden.

Lawrence Clark, an instructor at Murray, was a special guest of the Adamses for the recital.

Following the program, the couple was honored at a reception in the fellowship hall. Mrs. Nelson Tripp, Mrs. Leland Adams, and Miss Geri Tripp were the hostesses.

car with the chain and "said he was going to give me a little of this....meaning the chain."

Morrow said he grabbed his gun from the glove compartment and, as George swung at him, he began shooting.

Sheriff Nelson D. Hill, Reed's final witness, said he thought George had been shot in the front seat of his car. He said he found blood on the seats, floorboard, steering wheel, and windshield. Also found in the car were a partial denture belonging to George, and a .22 bullet which had apparently gone through George's neck and lodged in the car seat, the sheriff said.

When Reed questioned Morrow, it was determined that George could have fallen back into his car as Morrow continued firing.

Morrow turned himself into authorities at the county jail after the shooting. Lacey Crocker, deputy jailer, said Morrow entered the jail and said twice that he had killed a man.

Deputy Sheriff Ken Kimbel, who was a city policeman when the shooting occurred, said he found the murder weapon, with six empty shells, under the seat of George's car, where Morrow said it would be. Earlier, Morrow said he did not know how the gun came to be under the seat. Kimbel said the gun was wrapped in a wash cloth.

On Friday morning, Grace called two defense witnesses, Billy Joe Powell and Hickman. Powell said he visited Morrow at the jail, and that Morrow told him George had attacked him with a chain.

Graves said that on the day of the shooting Morrow told him at the jail that George had tried to hit him with a chain, and that Morrow said, "I couldn't let him whip me with that chain."

When asked by Reed why he had not told the story earlier, Graves replied, "I didn't think it was that important."

Reed then called Crocker, who said that he had not heard that statement, "and I was with Morrow from the time he gave himself up at the jail until he was locked up," Crocker added.

Grace then called Graves, who repeated the story and said that Morrow "was in the office with his head between his hands."

ing; Joe Dan McClain, cold checking (two counts); Freddie Johnson and Keith Henderson, petit larceny; Gary Laster and Douglas Nickell, possession of cannabis sativa (marijuana); James Robert Lyles, carrying a concealed deadly weapon; and R. C. Williams, Sam Williams, and Henry Dean Minor, storehouse breaking.

Members of the grand jury were B. Bailey (foreman), A. B. Thacker, L. A. Perry, Linda McDade, J. A. Whipple, Virgil Darnell, Martha Bennett, Evelyn Burcham, Jodie Morrow, Ouida Jewell, Betty Jean Bard, and S. J. Basham.

The jail report, prepared by Miss Jewell, specifically mentioned "dirty mattresses and bath facilities" in the jail, and recommended that application be made for funds through the Kentucky Crime Commission for construction of new bathroom facilities and for new mattress covers.

The report noted that bathroom facilities at the jail are in the open, and recommended that three private facilities be built: one on the second floor for white male inmates, and one each on the first floor for women and juveniles, and for Negro male inmates.

Registration for the courses will take place Monday, June 14, and classes will begin the following day.

Fees for Kentucky part-time students, those scheduling less than six semester hours of graduate work, will be $14 per credit hour. For full-time graduate students, those taking six or more credit hours, the fee will be $75, he said.

All three-hour courses, the graduate offerings this summer will be:

AGR 537, Introduction to Statistical Methods; AGR 549, Weeds and Their Control.

Of the graduate offerings, nine are special three-week-long workshops. These are:

AGR 549, Weeds and Their Control (July 5-23), to be taught by Dr. Durwood Beatty; AGR 563, Arboriculture (July 5-23), taught by Prof. Amos Tackett; AGR 586, Advanced Greenhouse Management and Production (June 15-July 2), taught by Dr. Beatty; AGR 670, Advanced Farm Machinery

(July 5-23) taught by Professor Cherry.

AED 682, Determining Course Content in Vocational Agriculture (June 15-July 2), taught by Prof. Eldon Heathcott; AED 683, Instructional Materials in Agricultural Education (July 5-23), also taught by Professor Heathcott, and AED 688, Modern Problems in Agricultural Education II, taught by Dr. Lloyd Jacks.

The other three courses will be taught during the regular summer term. The courses and the instructors are:

UTM Expects New Record For Summer

(June 15-July 2), also taught by Professor Tackett.

AGR 573, Agriculture Processing (June 15-July 2), taught by Prof. William Cherry; AGR 649,

More than 1,800 students, the largest enrollment in the history of the summer program at the University of Tennessee at Martin, are expected to enroll for the 10-week summer quarter, according to Henry C. Allison, UTM dean of admissions.

First term classes will meet from June 17 to July 20 and second term classes will meet from July 21 to Aug. 23. New students, both incoming freshmen and transfers, are asked to attend a one-day orientation and preregistration program on Wednesday, June 16.

"The summer quarter is the ideal time for the incoming freshman to begin his college education and to make the transition from high school to college," commented Dean Allison. "Since the classes are smaller during the summer quarter, and there are fewer extracurricular activities, the incoming student will have more time to devote to academics."

Coke Bottles Travel All Around Country

by HAROLD J. NORRIS

Every now and then, someone will make me very happy by mentioning that they read these articles. Several people have asked me where in the world I get the ideas for choice of subjects. You'd be surprised I never know when an idea will hit and I usually carry a little notebook around to jot down ideas as they occur to me.

For example, the idea came for this article while I was loafing around at one of my favorite hangouts, a gasoline service station somewhere in Obion County. I see the fellows play a little game, sometimes called "traveling."

In case you don't know about the game, it is played with Coca-Cola bottles, the small kind usually. A group of people will get together and each man will get a Coke out of the machine, the order in which they reach for the bottles having been worked out in advance.

Then, everyone looks on the bottom of his bottle to see what town it came from and the guy who has the bottle from the shortest distance away has to buy the Cokes for everyone. There are other variations of the game but, in all cases, the distance from the town on the bottom of the Coke bottle is a determining factor.

One might think that with a large Coca-Cola bottling company located in Union City, most bottles would be from the local bottler. Not so! You'd be surprised at some of the places those bottles come from!

The more I thought about this, the more I thought there might be a story in it. Finally, one day while I was lounging around the house, I couldn't resist the idea any longer. I got up, stalked out into the utility room and started upending Coke bottles.

First the empty bottles, in order of being picked up, were from the following cities: Bangor, Maine; Longview, Texas; Atlanta, Georgia; Greensboro, North Carolina; Hammon, Louisiana; another from Atlanta, and one from Memphis.

There were six full bottles sitting there in a carton and they were from the following cities: Marianna, Florida; De Ridder, Louisiana; Plytheville, Arkansas; Scottsboro, Alabama; Enid, Oklahoma; and finally Chattanooga.

Positively fascinated by now, I went to the refrigerator and found three cold bottles which turned out to be from Little Rock, Arkansas; Rome, Georgia; and the closest to home of the whole bunch was the one from Brownsville.

If you kept count, you will realize as I did, there were 16 bottles and not one was a local bottle! Of course, Union City Coke bottles are probably found all over the country wherever Cokes are sold.

See how easy it is to get an idea for a story? Now, if each one of those Coke bottles could talk to me I would probably have 16 more stories, all better than this one. People who are traveling

Kentucky Hunting Dates Set; Season Lengths Remain Same

FRANKFORT, Ky., (Special) — Kentucky's 1971 hunting seasons are all but complete, with only the waterfowl and dove seasons yet to be set. All other seasons and bag limits have been determined for this year but, it is pointed out, the season for the migratory birds, must await action by the Department of Interior.

Basically the seasons are the same as for last year as far as length is concerned with only the opening dates varying, but often carry along an ice box loaded with Cokes and other soft drinks and swap their empties along the road wherever they happen to stop to restock the ice box. Eventually, they return home and turn the bottles in at their local store and the recirculation begins.

It seems to me that I can recall when Pepsi-Cola also had the name of the town where the bottle was located on their bottles. This has been some time ago. Under the circumstances, if I were the sales manager of any of the many soft drink bottling companies, I would insist on bottles carrying the name of the town where one of my dealers was located. You never can tell what those bottles might be used for!

with practically the same number of hunting days per species and the same bag and possession limits.

The gun deer season this year will be open in all 120 counties. Opening date is Nov. 13 and it will extend five days through Nov. 17. In 117 counties only bucks with forked antlers or antlers will be legal game, while in three counties, Hart, Barren and Edmonson, deer of either sex will be legal. The bow and arrow season is open throughout the months of October and December and either sex deer is fair game. Hunters may bag but one deer, either by gun or bow and arrow, for the entire year.

Squirrel hunting kicks off the seasons, opening on Aug. 21 and continuing through Oct. 31. The second phase opens on Nov. 18 and continues through Dec. 31, the same season, with the exception of the opening day, as for last year. The bag limit again will be six and the possession limit 12.

The rabbit and quail seasons will open on the traditional third Thursday in November, this year Nov. 18, and will continue uninterrupted through Jan. 31. The bag and possession limit its will be six and 12 for rabbits and 10 and 20 for quail. The grouse season will open on Nov. 18 and continue through February 28 with a bag limit of four and a possession limit of eight.

Senior Citizens To Be Honored

All Obion County residents in their 80s, 90s and 100s are being urged to contact the Union City Chamber of Commerce (885-0211) in preparation for Senior Citizens Day to be observed with a picnic and program Thursday, May 27, at Grove Creek Park.

Mrs. Leonard Stovall, co-chairman of the KeenAgers, a Union City senior citizens club, said each person in the 80-plus age category will be presented a certificate signed by Union City Mayor Charles H. Adams.

Fulton, Ky. Thursday, May 20, 1971 Page 4

"We don't want to miss anybody so we're urging all these persons to notify the chamber, or have someone else do it for them, so the certificates can be prepared," Mrs. Stovall said.

A group of senior citizens from St. Louis, Mo., is expected to be present for the basket picnic at the city park, scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. All senior citizens in the county are invited to attend.

Distillation Favored

GENEVA—About 95 per cent of the world's water-desalting plant capacity is produced by the distillation method, which is the cost of the fresh water coming from membranes and crystallization systems.

VOTE FOR AND ELECT ON MAY 25th, 1971 HENRY MADDUX State Representative, A Man Who Has Served Eight Years In The House of Representatives.

I am in favor of only paying the 5% tax on the difference when trading cars and trucks, and will sponsor a bill to that effect.

A school's worth is judged by the students it PRODUCES and only the best student product comes from quality education schools fully accredited to meet all a student's needs. So I urge and recommend that more state funds be allotted to ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

I am in favor of a program whereby the state remits a portion of the funds collected from the 5% sales tax to the county, incorporated towns and education on a percentage basis on collections. We will have to get an amendment to our constitution before it will work successful.

Looking over my opponent's voting record and bills he sponsored I find two bills—H. B. 83 and H. B. 106—pertaining only to cities of the second and third class and as you know there are no cities of these two classes in the First District which elected him. If elected I will spend all my time on bills and problems pertaining to my constituents of the First District as I have done in the past. Being a farmer myself I know the farm problems and being a bank director I have a good idea of the problems confronting us today.

I appreciate the confidence you have shown me in the past and the courtesies shown to me this time in my campaigning with you.

Thanks For Your Consideration and Attention. Better Still THANKS For Your VOTE And ELECT A Proven, Capable, Experienced REPRESENTATIVE For Progress In Kentucky.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Are there special nutritional needs for teen-age boys?

A. Yes, there are. Teen-age boys need more calcium, iron and greater amounts of many other nutrients than at any other time during their lives, because they are experiencing their most rapid growth rate. Between-meal snacks are usually needed and should be chosen frequently from the four food groups.

Q. What about teen-age girls?

A. Teen-age girls often have the poorest eating habits of any age group. Many dietary studies indicate this. Skipping or skimping on nourishing food probably is due to girls' being figure-conscious. They may well be copying their mothers in this respect. But it's a mistake.

Q. What about breakfast?

A. Breakfast should not be neglected. Eating breakfast helps in weight control because it eases out calorie consumption. Otherwise, the dieter starves herself, then consumes everything at one sitting - probably under conditions of being "too hungry." By contrast, breakfast promotes a feeling of well-being in the morning hours when it may be most needed for energy and efficiency.

Q. Are "crash" diets harmful?

A. We think so. "Crash" diets may injure health. Teen-age bodies are in an important period of development. Girls at this age need more essential nutrients than at any other time in their lives except the later months of pregnancy and during nursing.

Q. Are the increasing number of teen-age marriages a factor to be considered in nutrition?

A. Definitely. The fact that more girls are marrying younger makes nutrition doubly important. Pregnancy puts extra stress on a teen-age girl because she must provide sufficient nutrition for her own continuing physical development as well as for her baby.

Q. What about adult nutrition?

A. In general, men are likely to have better eating habits than women. This is because men usually eat enough to cover their essential nutrient needs. If anything, men are eating too much, if they are overweight. Women, on the other hand, may be prone to neglect their own meals, either because of preoccupation with the food needs of their families or because they too, have become figure-conscious without understanding the proper approach to weight control.

Q. What about older adults?

A. They need the same nutrients as everyone else, but smaller portions because they are less physically active.

Foot In The Door

To the bus driver waiting at the wheel, it seemed that the fat lady was his final customer. But behind her, unseen by the driver, a girl was also preparing to come aboard. She had already gotten one foot in the door when he closed it and started to move.

The girl was flung to the pavement and injured. In due course, she sued the bus company for damages.

"Even if his view was blocked by that fat lady," she told the court, "he had no right to close the door without double-checking. After all, a common carrier owes a high degree of care to its passengers."

"Maybe so," conceded the company. "But this girl was not yet a passenger. She had paid no fare. She had not really gotten aboard. We do regret the incident, but we are not legally liable."

Nevertheless, the court held that the girl was indeed a passenger, entitled to extra care, and granted her claim.

This is the prevailing rule, that a person may acquire the special status of "passenger" even before he is inside the vehicle. It is usually enough that he has shown his readiness to come aboard—and that the company has shown its readiness to accept him.

But the readiness on both sides must coincide. Take this case:

A man rushed up to a bus just after the door had closed. He knocked on the glass, but the bus was already beginning to roll. The man slipped, fell, and got hit by the rear wheel.

Could he collect damages from the company? A court said no, because he had not gained the status of a passenger. The court pointed out that he had not shown his readiness to ride until the driver had stopped showing his readiness to accept him.

A parallel problem arises at journey's end: At what moment does the passenger lose his special status?

In another case, a passenger alighted at a bus stop, began to cross the street, and was knocked down by a second bus passing the one he had just left. Here, he claimed damages on the theory that his driver should have warned him that another bus was following.

But the court said the driver could not be blamed, because the man had lost his status as a passenger. Once safely discharged, said the court, a passenger turns into just another pedestrian.

Education, Law Enforcement 'Musts' In Curbing Pollution

Mass education and stricter enforcement of existing laws were pinpointed during the Earth Day program today at Murray State University as the most urgent needs in the problem of solid waste disposal.

R. L. Cooper, health administrator for Calloway and Marshall counties, told a sparse audience during the afternoon speaking program that a "lack of concern can be corrected only by a new sense of awareness in the generation to come."

He was one of four speakers involved in the second annual Earth Day, part of a nation-wide movement to draw attention to the crises created by air and water pollution, mineral destruction, wildlife extinction, over-population and other abuses of natural balances on the earth.

Appearing with him were: Clyde Baldwin, Frankfort, engineer in charge of industrial wastes for the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission; E. J. Haverstock, general manager of the Murray Division of the Tappan Corp.; and Sory Shannon, field operations technologist for the Kentucky Air Pollution Control Commission.

Besides the panel of speakers, activities on the campus were divided into three categories—a series of films sponsored by Gamma Sigma Sigma sorority, several exhibits relating to a variety of environmental problems, and an art display.

Cooper, who said it costs from $9-10 a ton to pick up and dispose of solid waste or garbage, pictured the sanitary landfill as the most practical solution to a growing problem.

"But it takes a good-sized population tax base to provide the necessary financing for disposal of solid waste by the use of a properly engineered and operated sanitary landfill," he added.

Noting that each person is responsible for about 5 1/2 pounds of solid waste per day, Cooper expressed the opinion that the problem may be alleviated somewhat in the future by small counties cooperating in the operation of joint landfill projects.

Both Baldwin and Shannon outlined the history and the functions of the state government agencies they represent. Baldwin said the water pollution control agency "has fallen down most of all in not telling the people of Kentucky what it has been doing."

Citing "basically good cooperation from municipalities and industries in Kentucky," he said only five communities in the state do not at present have sewage treatment plants, and only one of those five have a population of more than one thousand people.

Shannon said the work of the air pollution control commission not yet five years old, "has just begun." He explained that the agency is still involved in determining many of the problems, in deciding how to handle them, and in setting time tables for remedial action.

Haverstock said the Murray company which manufactures gas and electric ranges is in the process of a corrective program as recommended by a consulting firm to meet water quality control standards laid out by the water pollution control commission.

He said the stove plant has been given until Dec. 31, 1975, to provide for proper treatment for liquid waste discharges into the Clarks River. He added that he expects the project, which he said will cost an estimated $250,000-500,000, to be completed as much as two years before the deadline.

Michael G. Miller, English instructor and campus representative of the Sierra Club, served as the master of ceremonies for the symposium.

HAYMAKING HISTORY

IN THE EARLY DAYS OF AGRICULTURE, LITTLE VALUE WAS PLACED ON THE GRASS THAT WAS HAND-CUT WITH CRUDE FORKES AND PLACED IN THE MOW WITH A PITCHFORK. TODAY WE ARE STILL ABLE TO PLACE AN ESTIMATE OF HIGH VALUE ON THINGS BY SAYING, "THAT AIN'T HAY."

BUT BY 1880, HAY HAD BECOME THE NATION'S LEADING AGRICULTURAL PRODUCT IN VALUE AND SUCH AN EXCLAMATION NO LONGER CARRIED WEIGHT. HORSES WERE THE MAINSTAY OF TRANSPORTATION ACROSS THE COUNTRY AND HAY WAS THE FUEL THAT KEPT AMERICA MOVING.

THE VALUE OF THE NATION'S HAY CROP HAS BEEN ENHANCED BY THE USE OF MODERN HAYMAKING EQUIPMENT LIKE THE NEW HOLLAND HAYBINE MOWER-CONDITIONER WHICH CONDITIONS AS IT CUTS AND WINDROWS OR SWATHS IT.

Drug Report At UTM Labeled Inaccurate

A report that one-quarter of the UTM students who attempted to donate blood in Martin recently were turned down because of their use of narcotics is inaccurate, Dr. Robert Clendenin told Rotarians Friday noon at the Biltmore.

Dr. Clendenin made his remarks prior to a talk by Elmo Price, wildlife area supervisor for West Tennessee with the state Game and Fish Commission. Although Mr. Price urged that Rotarians ask questions at any time during his talk, he failed to come up with an answer when asked why the opening of duck season comes after the largest concentration of ducks has already left this area.

Asked if he foresees a time when Reelfoot Lake will become a managed area similar to Dr. Clendenin's report was in response to comments made by Circuit Court Judge Phil Harris last week when the judge told Rotarians that about one-fourth of the UTM students who offered to donate blood to a blood bank program in Martin were turned down because of drug usage.

temperatures were above normal while 30 were under medication such as penicillin or some other antibiotic, 10 were underweight and six had insufficient blood," Dr. Clendenin said.

Concerning the lateness of the opening of the local duck season, Mr. Price suggested that sportsmen meet with Game and Fish Director Dave Goodrich when he visits this area of the state on May 24th. The time and place of the meeting will be announced at a later date and chances are a number of local duck hunters will accept the invitation.

In a further explanation of his comment on Reelfoot Lake, Mr. Price said he does not believe it is fair for Reelfoot to operate as freely as it does but that, before it can be turned into a managed hunting area similar to the Gooch tract, support from the people would be needed.

"It may not come in my lifetime," he said.

He did admit, however, that the blinds at Reelfoot as well as in Area E in the Gooch tract (Crockett), are being numbered. There are those who feel that this numbering is only a prelude to the taking over of Reelfoot by the state.

However, Mr. Price said the numbering is being done only because "We need to know what we are working with."

Harper will give a report on the year's activities and accomplishments in the development of the area and promotion of tourism in the eight-county area surrounding Lake Barkley and Kentucky Lake. The program also will include election of directors and officers.

The dinner at Ken-Bar Inn will be at 6:30 p.m. Reservations for members and other interested persons may be made before May 24 with directors of Kentucky's Western Waterlands as follows: Harper, Eddyville; Max Hurt, Murray; Carl Hamilton, Benton; Ed Johnstone, Princeton; F. ### More Japanese Eating Spaghetti

TOKYO — Japan's spaghetti consumption in 1961 totaled only 10,500 metric tons, but this year's sales are forecast at 56,000 tons. Spaghetti, macaroni, lassagna and pizza were sampled and liked by many visitors to Expo '70, so Japanese food manufacturers are gearing up to capitalize on this new market opportunity.

Agriculture Club Told Of Challenge

MURRAY, Ky.—The occupational challenge of feeding a hungry world is one of the greatest available to young people in America today, members of the Murray State University Agriculture Club and their guests were told Tuesday night.

Speaking at the club's annual year-end banquet, Capt. Kenneth Kennedy, a native of Cadiz and a 1967 graduate of Murray State, told the 300 students and guests that one-third of all the people ever born on the earth are alive today.

"By the year 2000, there will be more than six billion people on the earth," he said, "almost twice as many as there are today," emphasizing that the world's population is growing at the rate of almost 100,000 "new mouths to feed every day."

An attorney and currently serving with the Judge Advocate Department of the U.S. Army at Ft. Campbell, Kennedy, who was national president of the Future Farmers of America before coming to Murray, went on to pay tribute to the efficiency of America's farmers by pointing out that the American farmer today produces more than five times as much foodstuffs as he did in 1920.

This is particularly significant, he said, when it is considered that two-thirds of an acre of land per person was available for food production at the end of World War II as compared with one-half acre per person today.

"People in agriculture hold a unique position in the world of tomorrow," he said, specifically addressing the 160 senior FFA members from 18 area high schools present.

He urged the audience to begin with a good education and then become a part of the world of agriculture by accepting its challenges, and asked those present to "become a part of the answer, not part of the problem."

Kennedy was introduced by Brent Gray, retiring president of the Agriculture Club from Trigg County. Dr. Harry M. Sparks, president of the university, welcomed the group to the campus.

The dinner-meeting was cli-

FARM INCOME
In 1968, the farmer received 39 cents of the dollar the consumer spent for food produced in the United States, one cent more than in 1967. In the past ten years, the farmer's share ranged from 37 to 40 cents, according to New Holland, the farm equipment division of Sperry Rand.

Farm Yearbooks Old

WASHINGTON—The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Yearbook of Agriculture, devoted to a different subject each year, can be traced back as an annual volume well over 100 years.

Population Of U.C. Increases To 12,695

According to the 1970 federal census, Union City's population is 11,925 but a recent count of citizens annexed since that time places the city's population at 12,695.

It is the latter figure that will be placed on signs at all highway entrances to the city and, better yet, state taxes will be distributed on the basis of the larger figure.

The figures were made available this week after a survey revealed there are 422 persons living in the Hickman Highway-Old Lake Road area annexed on Jan. 1. Another 345 persons were counted in the Pleasant Valley area which also was annexed following the official census count.

In 1960, Union City had 8,837 residents and the rate of growth in the 10 years since then has been a phenomenal 43.6 per cent. Actually, most of this high rate of growth place within the past three or four years.

Should Union City's growth continue at this rate during the next 10 years, by 1980 the city could count more than 18,000 persons.

Rice Experiments

Cut Use Of Water

NEW DELHI—Experimenters in India have obtained a good crop of rice with only 16.7 inches of water, irrigating only when the soil was completely crusted.

The yield was only 6 per cent lower than in a corresponding experiment—based on the classical practice of continuous submergence—that used six times as much water.

Knit Style Show Is Given By Mrs. Thompson

FULTON, Ky. Mrs. Catherine Thompson presented a knit style show at the meeting of the Fulton Woman's Club.

Mrs. Thompson presented basic sewing hints that should be used in the construction of a knit garment. Important points such as pattern design and the correct choice of fabric design were emphasized.

Mrs. Thompson stated that the second largest business in the United States was the manufacturing of fabrics and notions for home sewing.

Mrs. Robert Batts, president of the Fulton Woman's Club, presided at the business session.

Mrs. Batts gave a brief report of the annual KFWC convention held recently in Louisville. She announced that the Fulton Woman's Club had received three top citations from the KFWC. The local club was given an Honor Club citation, a citation for outstanding work in International Relations and a citation for special support of the Jewel Manor Home for Girls.

Fulton, Ky. Thursday, May 20, 1971 Page 8

Mrs. Joe Johnston, a member of the local club, won the top honors for her drawn work which was entered in the needlework division of the Arts and Crafts exhibit at the KFWC convention.

Hostesses for the meeting were members of the Junior Department, Mrs. Roy Morrow, Mrs. Lynn Newton and Mrs. Ben Donaldson.

More Items Donated To County's Museum

Ever seen a fire wagon hose cart or a 200-year-old cobbler's bench?

These are just two of the items from the immense R.L. McNatt collection which were trucked to the Obion County Museum Monday afternoon and which will be placed on display by the time the Obion County Fair opens on Aug. 30.

The museum has been undergoing an extensive rebuilding program for the past month or so with old exhibits being enlarged and a number of new ones in the process of being added.

During last year's Obion County Fair, almost 100,000 persons visited the local museum.

The items donated to the museum by Mr. McNatt were formerly on display at Hugh Fly's Country Store near Murray, Ky., and were trucked here by Mr. Fly, who operates the Derby Restaurant in Fulton.

Other items included in the shipment are a red delivery hack, a backboard buggy, a tin kitchen safe, a crackling squeezer, a hand-operated corn planter, a small proof press, a hand-crank churn, a tobacco cutter, a hay sickle, a complete wheat cradle, a shell-loading machine and many, many other items.

So vast and varied are the items donated to the museum by Mr. McNatt over the past year, that a section of the structure has been named in honor of his mother, the late Mrs. Clemmie McNatt.

Mr. McNatt, who makes his home near Dukedom, is presently a resident of the Obion County General Hospital Nursing Home.

A trailer truckload of items was received from Mr. McNatt last year, about three weeks before the museum was opened, and were grouped together in a single display.

Plans are now to construct a portion of a log cabin, a section of a barn and a farm workshop. Many of the McNatt tools will then be placed in the workshop to give the appearance of a well-equipped shop of the late 1800s.

The cabin will also be furnished. Anyone having a log structure they would like to donate to the museum for the building of this cabin is asked to call the Obion County Fair office at 885-5361.

The wildlife exhibit, which has been an eye-catcher ever since the museum was opened a year ago, is in the process of being completely rebuilt and is being lengthened by 12 feet. Members of Mrs. Joe Eakin's Obion County Central art class are preparing to lengthen their backdrop for the display from 16 to almost 30 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, who prepared this display last year, once again will be called upon for the task. This year, however, there will be a more complete display of ducks and animals and, hopefully, snakes of this general area.

Many Obion County hunters came to the aid of the museum during the waning days of the last duck season and furnished a number of species. As a result, only a few ducks native to this area will be missing from the display.

In the planning stage is a special display for albino (white) animals.

This year it is also hoped that the printing press in the old print shop can be placed in operation and run for about an hour each day during the Obion County Fair, with Dave Capps operating the machine.

Fulton Artist Jubie Henderson has given the museum several more bird prints and these, along with the four which already were on display, will be matted and framed.

Another display this year will be one showing the methods by which the late Pete Harmond of Union City built his famous Bowie knives. A knife and several other items used in this display have been donated to the museum by Mrs. Harmond and the display is being set up in memory of Mr. Harmond by two friends, Dr. Byron O. Garner and David Critchlow.

Museum officials also hope to be able to remove all overhead lighting fixtures and install special display lighting before fairtime rolls around.

New Department Organized At University

MURRAY, Ky. — A new Department of Political Science has been organized at Murray State University, effective July 1, Dr. Walter Blackburn, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, has announced.

Chairman of the new department, which heretofore had been a part of the Department of Geography and Political Science, will be Dr. F. Umar, who joined the Murray State faculty last September after two years at Appalachian State University in Virginia. He earned the doctoral degree in government at Southern Illinois University.

The other faculty members making up the new department include:

Auburn Wells, who has been at the university since 1947; Bobby Joe Sims, a Ph.D. degree candidate at SIU; Joseph Rose, who currently is on leave and at work on a doctorate at the University of Kentucky; Elmer E. Oettinger, whose doctoral work is being done at the University of North Carolina; and Gene Garfield, a Ph.D. candidate at SIU who joined the Murray faculty in September, 1970.

Creation of the new department brings to 15 the number making up the School of Arts and Sciences, the largest of the university's six schools, and becomes the 35th on the campus.

Twenty-seven courses in political science will be offered for the bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree in that area.

Of 19 million dwellings in Britain, about one-half are owner-occupied, about one-third rented from public authorities and one-sixth privately rented.

Here's a tip for you other soybean growers...

Lasso plus Lorox tank mix is your best bet for great weed control!

Just tank mix Lasso liquid from Monsanto, with Lorox 50W for broad spectrum control. Yes sir, Lasso plus Lorox gets grasses such as the Brachiaria, Crabgrass and Seeding Johnsongrass, and tough broadleaves like Pigweed, Ragweed, Smartweed and Lambsquarters.

Lasso EC plus Lorox has proven to be the ideal broad spectrum weed control combination for soybeans in the South. If you used Lasso before, you know how well it works. Now get even better grass and broadleaf control with a Lasso plus Lorox tank mixture. It could be one of your wisest decisions this year for higher soybean yields and better profits.

For the correct ratio of Lasso to Lorox best suited to your soil and crop, see your Farm Chemical Supplier now. Ask him for one of the Lasso handy rate and application booklets.
